

CLAIMS

1.1. (Currently Amended) An improved urine collector for female use, of the type made up of a body (2) made from an elastomer material and adopting a shape that is triangular in plan and with two of its three vertexes being rounded; ~~the general body having a recess (4) or concave area, externally having a conduit (7) coupling to a flexible conduit, and having a valve (5) provided with a projection (6) emerging from zone (4), characterized in that there is a recess (3) at the end of the peripheral flange (2) defined by two lateral tongue elements, and in recess (4) and in coincidence with the side elements, and in recess (4) and in coincidence with the side through which the tubular projection (7) emerges, the recess (4) has a zone (8) configured as a bellows or fold.~~

a hollow area (4) in the body;

a recess (3) originating from the third vertex at narrow end of the body with (2)

two lateral tongue elements;

a projection (5) and a valve (6) located in the hollow area (4) toward wider end of body (2);

a tubular conduit projecting from the hollow area;

a bellows configuration (8) in a wall of the hollow area (4) at the narrow end of the body (2).